Extended Reality Space

pablo · Wednesday, March 30th, 2016

Espacio XR offers the latest products in devices and content related to Augmented Reality (AR), Mixed Reality (MR) and Virtual Reality (VR), and a place to experience and understand all these different realities first-hand.

In April, 2016, we embarked on a journey through immersive technologies with the help of the Espacio VR, a benchmark showroom for Virtual Reality in our country due to its informative, permanent, free and constantly updated nature. This year in 2018, thanks to the positive attendance numbers and the need to show new products from this constantly expanding sector, the space is being updated and turned into the new Extended Reality Space, which, in addition to Virtual Reality, includes Augmented Reality and Mixed Reality.

The project remains more alive than ever and is therefore expanding its range of realities, offering visitors the latest breakthroughs in the sector as previously selected by our collaborator, The App Date. In this way, Espacio XR maintains its philosophy and desire to make the best quality devices and experiences on the market known to different audiences, while at the same time offering space and visibility to all the collaborating companies that participate in our showroom by providing their contents, devices and/or services.

Among the selection of devices, attendees will find the most important ones on the market: Oculus, Samsung, HTC, PlayStation, Google, Microsoft, ASUS, Lenovo, LG, HP, Dell, ACER, Magic Leap, and others. Without a doubt, it's an opportunity for attendees to try out different technologies that will allow them to create new worlds and/or immerse themselves in others, offering a truly unique experience.
